

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

There are many festivals to celebrate,
With diverse cultures,
Oh! It's so great.

An array of colours,
Oh! So many to use.
During Holi,
To throw colours on you.

Diwali is here,
Festival of lights.
To remove ignorance
And put knowledge in its place.

The beauty of friendship
Of siblings in peace.
We celebrate bhai Dooj

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

Array of festivals
Is like a carnival
We celebrate with joy
With our friend and foe.

Diwali is full of light
That is very bright
Some people play holi with colours
And some play it with flowers.

We get sweets
We eat and feel the bliss
The boys fly kites
In fun and rejoice.

Array of colour
Holi is here
Array of festival
Is like a carnival.

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

The beauty of colours
The array of flowers
Diwali and holi are here
An array of festivals

Pongal with sweets
help ourselves to delicious treats
Screaming “pongal ‘o’ pongal”
To the heart's content

We worship our devi play with dandiya sticks
Navratri is here
This is an array of festivals

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

The fragrance of flowers
Bringing in the festive mood.
Diwali the festival of light,
And the crackers have arrived

The light of the amazing crackers,
Shine bright in the sky.
The joy of Diwali is unlimited
The food at night is limitless.

God's blessing is with us,
Yes! Diwali is here.

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

The Rangolis made with love and devotion
The array of colours
The sweet smell of flowers
Diwali is finally here!!

Firecrackers are bursted
And candles are lit
While the children cannot even sit
Presents and prayers are given

There are so many festivals
From Holi to Diwali,
All filling our hearts to the brim.

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

Full of colours and water
Has lots of sweets and chatter,
Having fun with our friends,
From the start till the day ends.

Yay! Yay! Yay!
This is an array of festivals,
With joy and festive love,
We see the bright colours above.

Here comes the tempting smells,
And the stories my grandparents tell,
Like the story of Prahlad,
Brings a smile to us, and we are glad.

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

Diwali is full of light,
Which makes our houses bright,
We lit lamps,
In all camps.

We are all happy,
When we celebrate Diwali,
We eat so many sweets,
And make many reels.

Finally we clean our houses,
To prepare for the arrival of God.

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

The arrival of the festival of light,
When that feeling of might,
We run around and play
And have fun all day.

You burst and pray,
Expressing love and gratitude,
We will have some fun,
Not matter what we will be okay.

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

Flower Rangolis are pretty
But now people celebrate it in a city.
People unite in Onam,
Making Yummy payasam together.

Splashing colour on our faces,
Enjoying Holi with friends,
The festival of Holi;
Has endless fun.

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

Here comes Diwali,
The festival of lights,
Which are lit at night,
Here comes Diwali.

Here comes Pongal,
Colourful Rangoli,
Tasty sweet Pongal,
Here comes Pongal,

Here comes Raksha Bandhan,
When the sisters tie Rakhi,
And brothers promise to protect,
Here comes Raksha Bandhan.

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

Firecrackers are lit, where memories are made,
sweets are eaten
and laughters are shared.
New dresses are bought excitement takes place
This is the festival of diwali,
Where children play!

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

Firecrackers and lamps are lit,
We pray to god for a happy life.
Diwali is a near,
New dresses , sweets and gifts are exchanged.

Dandiyas are hitting each other
The garba songs are playing
Navaratri is here lets all enjoy
Good has defeated evil we are free

Kites are playing in the sky
New dresses, sweets and gifts
Makar saraswati is here lets all enjoy
All decorate their homes and do pooja.

When they burst the crackers the sky is filled with colours.
the beauty of light is all around the world.
when diwali arrives everybody's face is filled with happiness and joy where everyone is waiting to play with them toys.

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

Festivals! Joy on its way people are on their way,
To join home for fun
Eating sweets in ton.

Children with all flowers,
And mind full of colours
Are here to celebrate
As they want joy to elevate.

Eating food is good,
Doing good is better,
And the feeling we get is the best.

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

Holi is a festival of joy,
Which inspires a boy.
You may play with a water gun,
Found in toy shops.

You can put colour on someone's face,
when they are running a race,
After that he will look like a packet of red lays,
And you can enjoy him with juice made of grapes.

So that's all for today,
You go enjoy the festival,
With a biscuit; 'good day'
And have a good day.

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

The festival of glowing lights,
Fight for the crackers.
Lighting up lamps to make the place grow,
Cooling up the area as the winds blow.

Skyshots high up in the air,
A our eyes strain.
Lightning up lamps to make the place grow,
Cooling up the area as the wind blows.

Making Rangolis with our hearts,
Clothes in our shopping carts.
Lord Krishna preachings,
Shows the path of human beings.

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

It's festival time

Let's have some fun,

Let's have more sweets.

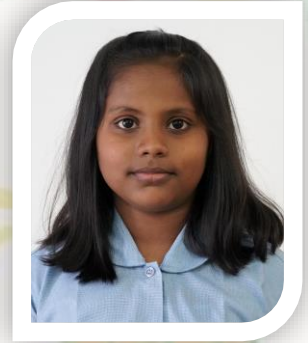

Burst some crackers and play around.

Let's jump and skip.

Grow our bond.

Oh! Let's just play along,

And sing a song.

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

Diwali is the festival of light,
It makes our face bright.
We burst crackers under the moon,
Rocket go straight into the sky.

Beautiful rangolis outside,
Colours spread long and wide.
With so much precision
I take supervision.

Diyas lit up
Demolishing the darkness
Takes us back from sadness
To the new world of rejoice.

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

Diwali, the festivals of lights,
We have fun in the day,
And fun in the night.

Diwali, crackers light up the sky,
We eat diwali sweets,
As the days go by.

Diwali, the time of the year, when we celebrate, without any fear.
Diwali, we meet our friends,
share our gifts,
And have fun with them

Diwali, when our behaviours change,
The bad qualities go by,
With the good ones in range.

AN ARRAY OF FESTIVALS

Diwali – a festival of light,
Festivities surrounding me
The conquest of good over evil,
The city of Ayodhya rejoiced.

Families clean their houses,
No speck of dust nor the floor or the ceiling.
Cooking traditional dishes,
Ladoos , pedas and Kheer jalebis a must.

Lit up diyas around
Crackers burst outside house,
Flower pots and bombs,
Skyrockets worth the wait.
